Cuba hosts international engineering convention

20/08/2014

The 3rd International Convention on Engineering will take place in the Varadero Tourist Center of Matanzas province November 6 to 8.

According to the event's organizing committee, the convention will include six forums focusing on issues such as women as engineers, the youth meeting the challenge of the future, engineering on the countryside and creative citie, sustainability of engineering, energy for development and updated engineering.

The convention will also include technical visits and an exhibit by companies in different engineering sectors.

The event will be sponsored by the Cuban Association of Construction Architects and Engineers.