President of Cuba Miguel Diaz-Canel highlighted today the existence of cooperation projects with Russia, when sharing information about the visit of Russian Foreign Minister Sergey Lavrov.

Cuba and Russia will continue to work together in different areas, Diaz-Canel tweeted referring to the report of Granma daily on Lavrov's visit to Cuba, Mexico and Venezuela.

Russia is actively participating in the Cuban development program until 2030, with programs for modernization of railways, construction and renovation of energy plants, training of specialists and medical cooperation.
