

---

Justin Bieber Writes Touching Note To Friend Who Died In Paris Attacks

17/11/2015

The "Purpose" singer took to Twitter to mourn the loss of Ayad, saying, "I wish I would've had more time to thank him."

RIP Thomas #PrayForParis

Still thinking about Paris and my friend Thomas that we lost in the tragedy. He was a part of the team for years and I wish I would've had more time to thank him. Make sure to appreciate people while you have them. Thanks Thomas for everything you did for me. You are appreciated and missed. Thoughts and prayers are with your family & friends #PrayForParis

Ayad was among the 89 people killed at the Bataclan theater during an Eagles of Death Metal concert.

On the night of the attacks, Bieber had multiple live-stream concerts scheduled. He decided not to cancel the events so he could "hopefully bring some light & hope to those hurting." He made the announcement in a since-deleted tweet, Entertainment Tonight reported.

During his shows, the singer paid tribute to the victims with a moment of prayer.