
Cuba reaffirms its Level at Argentinian Philatelic Exhibition event

22/09/2016

The Cuban philately showed its value when it achieved outstanding results at the International Philatelic Exhibition - Córdoba 2016t which was carried out in the cultural center from Córdoba city in Argentina in which there were more than 450 related collections from 15 nations from the Latin American continent and Spain.

Humberto Vélez Blanco gained the gold medal and the special prize due to the unusual material of the Cuban collection on display: it was a stamping piece of paper. Moreover, this is the main award granted by the experienced exhibitor.

Joaquín Espinosa, on his part, also deserved the gold medal given the excellence of its collection about fiscal stamps of the colonial period.

Leonardo Palencia achieved the Vermeil medals by the collection entitled 'El Cohete postal cubano' and 'Patriotas cubanos 1917'.

Among the young people, Elizabeth Losa, aged 16 only, achieved the special award of the youth category and the big Vermeil medal, which is the main related one for his age, due to his collection entitled 'Las Flores de la naturaleza.'

Likewise, Dayron Anier Giro and Brian Morera, aged 13 and 15, were granted the local Plata Grande medal due to their collections entitled 'El Agua, fuente de vida.' and 'Los Vehículos, ruedan, corren, impactan,' respectively.

We should highlight that the Cuban Philatelic President, José Raúl Lorenzo was the General Coordinator of the exhibition in his capacity as director of the Latin American Philatelic Federation.

The International Córdoba 2016 exhibition was organized by the Argentinian stamp collectors and it was an excellent opportunity for the exchange and fraternity among the stamp collectors from our mainland and Spain.
